In 2025, the European University of Lefke (EUL) organised several ad-hoc educational events and awareness activities in response to emerging societal challenges and developments. These initiatives addressed contemporary issues such as technology addiction, cybersecurity, and infection control in healthcare services.

Through these activities, EUL aimed to raise public awareness, share academic expertise, and promote lifelong learning beyond formal education. The events reflect the University's commitment to responding to current community needs and supporting public education on important health, social, and technological issues.
